CHAINED DOOR, FLED DOWN DUMBWAITER

Burglar Again Visits Heights Apartment and Mrs. Hiergesel Loses $600 Jewelry.

The fourth burglary within six months in the apartment house at No. 651 West One Hundred and Fifty-second Street took place when the apartment of Fred V. Hiergesel, a manufacturer of scientific instruments at No. 55 Fulton Street, was entered late yesterday and $600 worth of jewelry taken. The apartment of J. Sachs, a lawyer, was burglarized two weeks ago, and two other apartments were robbed since December with a total loss of about $2,500, it is said.

Several times yesterday, before Mrs. Hiergesel left the apartment for a short stroll in the afternoon, the bell of the apartment door rang, but no one was found at the door. It is believed the burglar kept ringing to discover when Mrs. Hiergesel left.

When Mrs. Hiergesel returned after her walk she unlocked the door, but found it chained on the inside. Believing her husband was inside she called, but there was no response. When she got in with the aid of a neighbor a few minutes later she found the burglar had made his exit via the dumbwaiter shaft.

EXTORTION.

QUESTION AND ANSWER COLUMN

By Pauline Furlong

Miss Furlong will reply in this column to letters written by Evening World readers asking questions pertaining to the subjects treated in her articles. Letters must not exceed 250 words in length and must be limited to the subjects upon which information is desired.

Care in Exercising.

The advanced trunk exercises which have been illustrated recently should not be attempted by beginners, and many weeks' practice with the mat exercises is absolutely essential if you would derive the best benefits from the advanced movements later on.

There are some exercises which even the most advanced pupils can never master, and the liver squeeze, body bending to front and side, with knees rigid, trunk raising and single leg raising are among the most difficult movements in the entire course. Do not become discouraged and strain yourselves to accomplish any of the movements, which are not really easy to master after several weeks with the beginners' exercises.

Muscular strain may lead to many serious complications too numerous to mention, and a large enough variety of exercise has been given to benefit all parts of the body, even without the advanced movements. Never practise the exercises until you are in a state of exhaustion, but continue them until you are comfortably tired only.

Letters From Readers.

WALNUT HAIR STAIN—Mrs. Edna M. writes: "Will you please repeat the directions for using and the formula for walnut hair stain?"

Get one-half pound of dried walnut shells and add to them one pint of hot water. When cold strain. If you care to perfume the stain add a few drops of essential oil, your favorite odor, to a little alcohol, and put this in the strained mixture. This also makes the stain less sticky. It is vegetable and entirely harmless. Brush it on perfectly clean hair.

RIGGS DISEASE OF THE GUMS—A. F. N. writes: "I have mislaid your receipt for Riggs disease of the gums. May I ask you to repeat it?"

Use a mild solution of hydrochloric acid as a mouth wash often.

DRY SCALP AND FALLING HAIR—L. B. writes: "Have faithfully used the olive oil the night before shampooing and the liquid petroleum after doing so, but my hair is still dry and scalp covered with fine dry dandruff. It is also falling. Can you suggest some other treatment?"

My neck, chest and face used to be smooth and white, but now I notice the pores are enlarged and dark looking and blackheads are appearing. Please tell me the cause and cure for this."

The treatment you are following is the very best one for dry scalp and dandruff. Brush the hair at least fifty strokes each night with a stiff brush which will penetrate the hair, but not scrape the scalp. Massage the scalp until it is quite loose from the head to circulate the blood through it. Look to your general health also and keep the eliminative organs clean and active. Skin and scalp troubles are invariably the result of internal disorder existing. Take the hot water and juice of half a lemon in the morning, a half hour before breakfast. This will stimulate the liver and clear the gall bladder. Eat light, spring vegetables and fruits and drink much water. Take ten minutes' daily exercises and much deep breathing. I am sure that if you follow this treatment faithfully

Nervous Periodical Headaches

This trouble commonly called "stitch headache," is said to be due to the retention of urea in the system. It is stated that a poor condition of the blood is a cause of these headaches, or that it is a nervous condition, and in certain cases, no doubt this is true.

Where treatment is demanded, it is more for the pain than anything else, and Dr. A. P. Schellachmidt of Louisville, has found a remedy to give prompt and satisfactory relief. "Rest should be insisted upon," he says, "and the patient should be kept in the room, and all the attendants and family should be as quiet as possible. An emetic will sometimes shorten the attack. The bowels should be kept open with 'Aristol' or a hot bath and a floor rug rubbed down with a coarse towel, often give grateful relief. Two anti-nausea tablets when the first signs appear, will usually prevent the attack. During an attack, one tablet every hour or two will shorten the attack and relieve the usual nausea and vomiting. These tablets may be obtained at all druggists. Ask for A-K Tablets. They are also useful for nervous headaches, neuralgia and all pains."—Adv.

YOU'LL GET RID OF BLACKHEADS SURE.

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads, and that is to dissolve them.

To do this, get about two ounces of plain powder from any drug store—put it in a bottle with a stopper—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the face and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. No matter where they are, simply dissolve them, and they disappear, leaving the face without any mark whatever. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and are not so difficult to get rid of as you think. The powder dissolves the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition. Any one troubled with these unsightly blemishes should certainly try this simple method.—Adv.
